time been afflicted with Bright's disease and the malady, it is claimed, is directly traceable to an accident sustained a few years ago while at the baseball park. Mr. Corey, who is a young lady, was in a buggy, when a ball dropped immediately in front of his spirited horse, which started to plunging. While rescuing his companion he himself was caught between the wheel and the box of the buggy and squeezed about the back and chest. Although he appeared to recover, the recovery, it seems, was not complete. About two years ago he suffered from an acute attack of Bright's disease, but after a trip to California he was able to recover, and was in robust health for a time. Last fall the malady returned and he has been gradually losing ground since that time. His father and brothers at Independence, Ida, have been notified; also his sister, Mrs. Cavanaugh, at Denver. Mr. William Patrick, Sr., and Mr. Patrick, Jr., were notified and came to Ogden at midnight last night. The mother has been in Ogden for the past six weeks, and with the devoted wife were at the bedside when the end came. Deceased was a member of the Knights of Pythias.

She came here from Missouri and is now left alone without blood relatives in the state. The sincere sympathy of the populace is extended to her and to the other mourners.

SALOONMEN STIR UP WRATH.

Loud murmurings of complaint at some of the local officers around Marysville are just now beginning to be heard. The people feel greatly outraged over the conduct of said officers that took place some weeks ago and that has been until now by them kept secret. It will be remembered that the populace of this county last year was aroused in wrath because of the demoralization of the youth of the county caused by the "vice" and methods of the saloonkeepers in that place, and that the result was that his honor, Judge McCarty, was appealed to for help and a grand jury was called, the saloonkeepers indicted and fined $500 each for selling whiskey on Sunday, and minor and permitting minors to be in and around their places of business. It will also be remembered the judge gave said saloonkeepers severe scoring that it was never thought that it would ever be by them forgotten, and which wrung from the vendors the promise that violations of the law in this respect would never again occur. The general public, however, felt greatly relieved. It now transpires, however, that the promise was not sincere, and the public are asking for the calling of another grand jury, feeling that they have no protection from the law.

The grand jury, which was called, accordingly with good grounds. It appears that during the holidays just passed many of the youth of the county got all of the whiskey they wanted and that during the closing days of the holidays, seeing one 15-year-old boy in particular got extra heavily "loaded" and came to Junction, where he created a disturbance in a dance by throwing a bottle of whiskey through the window, for which he was fined $15. Paying the same he went over to the V. A. and again got into trouble, for which he was fined $8, and being unable to pay the fine he forced the saloonkeeper who sold to him to pay part of it, after the lad had languished a few days, and got him out. The boy's arrest and fine imposed was made public, but the important part played by the saloonkeeper was hushed up and kept quiet. Sheriff Stocks not thinking that this was the way to correct the evil, took to work and caught both saloonkeepers, took them before Justice Price, who, by the way, was elected on the reform cry, is editor of the local paper, and the newly appointed postmaster, and he hushed up the affair and is displeasing the public. The saloon men pleaded guilty, one to selling, on Sunday and the other to selling to minors, and they were by the justice fined the paltry sums of $15 and $18 respectively, less than the fine imposed on the boy, and the whole matter hushed up. There is a decided spirit among the general public manifested that this shall stop, that the law against selling liquor to minors shall be enforced as strictly as all other laws, and that the tender minds of their children shall not be polluted by these dens of vice made aggravatingly so by the disreputable manner in which they have been and are being conducted in and about Marysville, and they have expressed of the district attorney and other officials of this judicial district. Judge McCarty has not yet decided whether it is necessary to call another grand jury but has referred the matter to District Attorney Chichester for investigation.

GARLAND, WYOMING.

BIG HORN CONFERENCE.

Commodious and Well Constructed Meeting House at Cowley.

Special Correspondence.

Garfield, Big Horn Co., Jan. 31.—On Sunday and Monday, the 31st and 30th, the best and largest attended conference yet held in this part of the country by the Latter-day Saints was held at Cowley in the fine new meeting house they have recently erected. Apostle A. C. Woodruff, the founder of the colonies, was present. It is not yet two years since the people of the colony pitched their tents on the bank of the Shoshone, and the long strides taken towards the rapid development of the country are marvellous. There were gathered at the conference about six hundred people. This is probably the largest number of persons that ever assembled together in the whole northern part of Wyoming.

The residents of Cowley and those owning property there have recently finished a fine large meeting house and hall which is a credit to the Basin, and which would be a credit to a town with five times the number of people in as Cowley has.

The church is built of sawed logs on a stone foundation and is octagonal in shape. Six of the sides are twenty feet long and the other two are thirty feet long, thus making the room 30 by 60 feet to the extreme ends. The ceiling, which is sixteen feet high, is made of the regular beaded ceiling lumber and the floor is of the best hard pine and is very smooth. Six windows light the building from on many sides, each containing six or eight lights. The logs were placed in position in an even and true manner not to be found better in a brick building, and covered as it is by the eight-sided hip roof it presents a very attractive and neat appearance.

When all the seats are finished 500 people can be comfortably seated within its walls. It is therefore large enough for all purposes at present and is the largest and best meeting house yet built in the Basin. As an amusement hall it is unequalled in the county or in the whole northern part of the state. It was built entirely by donation, from the cutting of the first pine tree in the timber, to the driving of the last nail. The people of Cowley are to be complimented for their fine work—Garland Guard.
